For Immediate Release

Southwest Florida: Dogwood Management Partners, LLC and Credentia Healthcare Solutions, LLC are pleased to announce their mutually beneficial partnership to further grow and develop healthcare industry best practice staffing services nationwide. "Dogwood is very excited about our new relationship with Credentia Healthcare, and we believe that our similar business philosophies and track records of success fit well together. Up until today we have had a very good story to tell around healthcare but by adding Credentia Healthcare as a partner, we now believe we have an excellent healthcare story." says Ross Statham, Dogwood's Founder and Senior Partner.

Led by two service-disabled military veterans, Dogwood has been focused on providing healthcare and technology outsourcing solutions primarily to government since 2001. Its clients include the US Department of Veterans Affairs, the US Department of Health and Human Services, the US Department of Defense and the US Department of the Treasury.

Beginning in 2014 Dogwood began taking it's thin and transparent business model to commercial and non-profit clients, for whom they today provide a range of outsourcing and recruiting services. "Our new partnership with Credentia will help to provide our healthcare clients with an even higher level of service." said Statham. "Healthcare professionals like working with other healthcare professionals, and the team that Credentia has assembled has the background and experience needed to deliver needed high-end personnel and services to the healthcare industry in a meaningful and immediate way."

Credentia Healthcare was started by Traci Sweet, Psy.D., company President and a healthcare provider for the better part of the last 30 years. Dr. Sweet began Credentia with the belief that the best professionals to work in healthcare staffing are healthcare providers themselves. She set out to build a company of healthcare providers who could be taught as recruiters and who know the industry better than any others. Now, a balanced team of both licensed healthcare providers and very successful healthcare recruiters, some with more than 15 years in the business, Credentia has grown to quadruple its' size and reach in less than 6 months becoming a nationally recognized company built from similar values as those of Dogwood.

"Healthcare professionals have a lot in common with those in the military: we are born to serve, born to lead, and born with the solid moral compass that helping our country or our patients respectively requires," says Dr. Sweet. "Our new partnership with Dogwood elevates Credentia Healthcare's ability to provide the best quality of healthcare staffing services and also showcase our additional services to support the healthcare industry as a pioneering Center of Excellence while also helping Dogwood advance their healthcare initiatives. We anticipate that the partnership with Dogwood will afford both companies to rise to a uniquely qualified position offering unparalleled staffing services and benefits that no other company can offer. Our shared mission, values, and passion create a synergy that will prove to be best in class."
